

Dear FDA:

Your proposed "Premarket Notice Concerning Bioengineered Foods" regulation is a step in the right direction, but does not provide adequate oversight to ensure the safety of and public confidence in those foods. I urge the FDA either to establish a formal approval process, with mandatory safety testing, for those foods or to support new legislation to establish such a process.

The continuing refusal of FDA to initiate a mandatory approval process jeopardizes consumer confidence in a technology that, if adequately regulated, will provide significant benefits.

Please Do this. It is VERY important
Thank you
